von Hindenburg, himself an East Prussian, has always been an "easterner," and it is possible that he may favour at least a partial, and an early, evacuation of Belgium-with no pacific intention, but the reverse. While an evacuation of the larger part of Belgium and a promise to evacuate the rest on the conclusion of seace would be calculated to assist Germany's peace propaganda, it would have the solid military advantage not only of shortening and strengthening the German front in the west, but also of providing Marshal von Hindenburg with a reserve of men for offensive use-against Russia or in the Orient, whither General von Falkenhayn has lately betaken himself. The extreme obstinacy with which the enemy are defending the covering heights above the plain of Belgium is strongly suggestive of impending retirement, which would be very difficult, if not impossible, were these heights lost. "Military necessity" brought the Germans into Belgium and it is not improbable that before very ong a combination of military and poli-

The Swedish Elections. As a result of the elections to the Lower House of the Swedish Parliament the Conservatives (the supporters of the Court Party and of a pro-German neutrality") are "out," and the Liberals and Socialists are "in" by a substantial majority. In 1914 the Conservatives had 86 seats, the Socialists 87, and the Liberals 57. Now the Conservatives have 59, the ocialists 98, and the Liberals 61, while The Socialists of M. WATERFORD RED CROSS INSPECTION.

The annual inspection and competitions in connection with the St. John Ambulance and British Red Cross V.A.D.'s, for a silver cup presented by the Marchioness of Waterford, took place yesterday in the Courthouse grounds. The attendance included the Duchess of Abercorn, Lady A. Hamilton, Lady Susan Dawney, and Lady Anson. The Marchioness of Waterford was amongst the competitors. Mr. Smith, Deputy Commissioner for Ireland, and Dr. Dronnan, Kilkenny, adjudicated. The cup was won by the ladies of the Portlaw detachment.

In the opinion of the Roman newspapers a renewal of activity may be looked for on the Italian front during the next few days. The recent attack had to be suspended for tactical reasons. If it is resumed it is probable that there will be some very heavy fighting, for the Austrians are fully conscious of their perilous situation, and are busily engaged in preparing defences of the strongest nature. The Italian air service is continually active, and causes great exasperation among the enemy troops. The machines are armed with light guns, and able to do considerable execution among the Austrian troops, spoiling their rest and weakening their moral.

This is the day on which the German Chancellor was to have addressed the Reichstag, and his speech was awaited with interest to see how far the German Government had advanced in the direction of offering terms of peace worthy of being even considered by the Allies. It is now announced, however, that he will only speak in Committee, with the result, presumably, that the terms of his speech from that platform. It may be that Dr. Michaelis recognises that the German Government will have to make far greater concessions than he had contemplated if it is to be listened to at all, and requires more time to formulate them. Or it may be that the Government itself is at the moment so disorganised that it is unable to formulate anything.

Some of the latter come long distances from the provinces to find at the end of their journey that they have heard nothing that could not have been equally well communicated by printed circular. In this case the occasion of the meeting was the desire of the Canteen Board to work. the desire of the Canteen Board to reply to some rather vague allegations made upon its management by a single London newspaper. Lord Cheylesmore read a long letter addressed to him by the Secretary of the Army Council in which all the specified charges made against the Canteen Board were effectually disposed of, and afterwards, with his customary courtesy, answered a few questions addressed to him by members of the audience.

The Advantages of a Dry Shampoo

You can give your hair a dry shampoo at any time. It only takes a few minutes. Just sprinkle a little over the hair—leave for a minute or so, and then brush out-that's all. And you have none of the usual "after-washing" difficulties. Your hair is ready to do up again directly afterwards.

Icilma Hair Powder leaves your hair clean, ragrant and entirely free from grease; delightful to touch and easy to dress.

2d. per packet; 7 for 1/-; large, box, 1/6. Icilma is pronounced Eye-Silma. ICILMA CO., LTD.,

NEW NATIONAL WAR BONDS. NEW NATIONAL WAR BONDS.

(FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, TRURBAR.

There was no pronounced activity on the Stock Exchange, but business was inclined to increase, the war news from the Western front being calculated to help the undertone. On the other hand, to-day's conference between the Premier and leading bankers in regard to the Government's borrowing plans tended to accentuate the waiting attitude of dealers, the gilt-edged is section especially being very cautious. The Bank return was rather helpful than the reverse in this market, despite the small decrease in the reserve. The 5 p.c. War Loan railied it to 94 fg., and the 3j p.c. Loan also gained the turn. The 4j p.c. Loan fell it of 7j c. Consols did not vary.

Improved Hydraulic Ram is simple, self-acting, yet effective, and quite an inexpensive apparatus which guarantees an ample supply of water from River. Stream, or overflow Spring to the Home, Outhouses, or Fields within a very large area. This apparatus has time and again demonstrated its great utility under abnormal and difficult conditions. It is at work in many places in Ireland hitherto considered impracticable to permit of operations by Hydraulic Action. Everyone interested should write for particulars to-day.
